

Why would you want to help telemarketers and change/overrule a state law? It's a waste of my time to answer these calls. I should have the right to relax and not be hassled by telemarketers at home. I already have to deal with junk mail/flyers in mail box and spam in my email. The Do Not Call list has greatly reduced the calls I get.

The FCC should spend more time stopping all the companies that use spam type advertisements that wastes so much time and money of companies and the public. Why not help companies and the public avoid this waste instead of promoting it?
